Air Force Party Visits H.A.F.

Draft Board To Meet Friday To Discuss New Quotas, Take Appeals

Local selective service board will meet in Pearsall on Friday, Aug. 4, not on Aug. 14 as previously announced.

Men who want to discuss their classification, deferments, etc., are asked to be present on Friday. The meeting will begin at 10 A. M.

One of the reasons for the change was to take up the new draft call. No quota has been set for the three-county area, although it is expected that more men will be needed because of the overall, nation-wide increase.

Inspection Group Looks Over Inactive Texas Fields For Possible Use

Hondo Air Field is being inspected today by representatives of the Air Force Training Command.

This morning five Air Force officers and engineers arrived at Hondo, flying a B-25 twin engine bomber. They were met by members of the Airfield Properties Commission F. X. Vance, J. S. MacManus, and Joseph Palle, along with Chamber of Commerce president Harry Filleman, and secretary Paul Bybee.

Major J. A. Irwin, leader of the Air Force party, stated that the group was conducting a survey of many former Air Force fields "for possible future use in expansion of the Air Force flight training program."

The party of five includes Major J. A. Irwin, Major M. L. Smith, Captain M. P. Thompson, Mr. S. E. Bears and Mr. N. S. Meyer. The civilians are engineers employed by the Air Force.

The Air Force party will continue their inventory of usable inactive Air Force installations, with trips already scheduled to other fields after today's inspection is completed.

Major Irwin explained that the purpose of this party's visit was not to make the choice of fields to be utilized, but rather to collect data on several fields which will be transmitted to Headquarters of the Air Force in Washington, D. C. The final selection of sites, if and when an expansion of the flight training program is begun, will be made by Headquarters officials in Washington.

The inspecting party explained that the present Air Force flight training program utilizes ten Air Force bases, six of which are in Texas. Basic pilot training is conducted at Randolph at San Antonio, Connally at Waco, Perrin at Sherman, and Goodfellow at San Angelo. There is an advanced flying school at Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock, Texas, and a navigation school at Ellington, near Houston.

In spite of this stepped-up training, the flying safety record is improved. One spokesman stated that the Air Training Command averaged only one accident for every 7 million air miles flown.

F. X. Vance of the Airfield Properties Commission was notified Wednesday night that the inspection would take place, by a telephone call from a representative of Major General Robert W. Harper, commanding general of the Air Training Command.

General Harper requested that no advance publicity be given the party's visit, and Major Irwin explained that this precaution was taken to prevent false rumors about the field's reactivation.

Earlier this week, Secretary Paul Bybee reported to the board of directors of the Hondo Chamber of Commerce on his trip to Washington.

BYBEE REPORTS ON WASHINGTON TRIP

Paul Bybee reported to the board of directors of the Hondo Chamber of Commerce Monday night following his trip to Washington last week. He went to find out what plans, if any, were being made for the use of the Hondo Air Field in connection with the Air Force training program. Bybee said that he was told by Congressman Lloyd Bentsen, and the assistants to Texas senators, that there were no plans at present for the use of of the Hondo field.

If the war spreads and becomes much larger, there might be a possibility of re-opening the field, he said. However, one man in Washington said that the Air Force would use existing fields to their full capacity before opening those on a stand-by basis, and would rebuild fields like the one in Hondo after that.

In any event, there would be at least thirty days notice given to all those who are using the field now for commercial purposes.

Yancey Board Elects Roberson

Alvin Roberson of Knippa has been elected superintendent of the Yancey public schools for the 1950-1951 school term, according to J. D. Baker Jr., secretary.

Roberson will succeed W. H. Taylor who resigned to accept a position at Eola, near San Angelo.

The new superintendent is expected to arrive Saturday to take over his duties. A native of Knippa, he has been teaching there for the past four years. Mrs. Roberson will also teach at Yancey, Baker said.

RECEIVES ORDERS

Robert Glenn Pope received orders this week to report for active duty with the U. S. Navy. Pope was a member of the organized reserve, and will report to Coronado, Calif., where he will be with an underwater demolition unit. He is a lieutenant, junior grade.

Also receiving orders from Hondo was Milton Renken, who will report on Aug. 14 to Keesler Field, Miss. Renken was a corporal in the air force reserve, and is a radar mechanic.

Private Rites Held For Faseler Baby

Burial was to be at Yancey. The baby was the Faseler's first child.

First Baptist Church Plans 3-Day Meeting

REV. YELVINGTON

The First Baptist Church of Hondo will conduct a three-day evangelistic meeting Aug. 4, 5 and 6 under the director of Evangelist Jesse Yelvington, member of the staff of evangelists of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Rev. John Allen, the local pastor, announces that Brother Yelvington will bring to the Hondo church and community outstanding gospel messages out of his many years of study and experience as evangelist and army chaplain.

The following subjects have been announced for the meeting: Friday night, "The Joy of the Harvest;" Saturday night, "The Brand of the Lord," a message especially for young people; Sunday morning, "The Way of Death and the Way of Life;" and Sunday night, "In the Light of the Cross." Evening services will all begin at 8 o'clock.

In connection with the evangelistic service, an attendance goal of 150 has been set for Sunday school on Aug. 5. All enrolled in the Sunday school and others are urged to help reach this objective, Rev. Allen said. He extended a cordial invitation to the entire community to come and share in any or all of the services.

Only 5 Attend County Convention

Only five people were present Saturday afternoon when the Medina County Democratic Convention met at the county courthouse.

Francis Richter, county chairman, was elected temporary chairman of the meeting, and Allen David was chosen recording secretary. All members present, Fletcher Davis, Hugh H. Meyer, Frank Vance, Richter and David, of Hondo, and Oswald Sauer of La-Coste, were chosen as delegates to the state Democratic convention which will meet in Mineral Wells on Sept. 12. Also named county delegates were Mrs. Richter, Mrs. Sauer, Bill Naegelin, W. E. Berger, and Jordan T. Lawler.

A discussion of an "Americanism Day" which would honor citizens of the county reaching 21 years of age with a barbecue was held, but action was postponed. The proposal was advanced by Sauer.

Hondo Needs Five Teachers

Five vacancies still exist for the Hondo public schools, and Supt. J. Gordon Barry left Thursday in an effort to find teachers to fill them.

Needed are a primary teacher for the Latin American school, girls physical education teacher, social studies teacher for the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, public school music teacher, and a homecoming teacher.

A vacancy for homemaking teacher occurred when Miss Margaret Strode resigned to accept a position in Lufkin.

Barry will contact applicants at the various teachers' colleges, and other state and private schools. He expects to be gone from Hondo about three days.

Kitchen Furnishings Destroyed In Blaze

DEVINE — Fire Thursday caused by the explosion of an oil stove destroyed the kitchen furnishings in the residence occupied by the Deward Littleton family.

Quick work by the Devine Volunteer Fire Department in extinguishing the flames prevented it from spreading to other parts of the house. Citizens of Devine contributed cash, furniture and utensils to help the Littletons replace articles lost.

The house is owned by W. L. DuBose.

MEDINA COUNTY GAINS 94.81% OF BOND QUOTA

Final figures released by U. S. Treasury Dept. show that Medina County fell about $1,700 short of reaching its quota during the recent Independence Bond Drive.

Sales amounted to $31,288 of the $33,000 goal which represents 94.81 per cent of the total.

Methodists Open Budget Campaign

The first in a series of talks to be given before members of the First Methodist Church by laymen during August as a part of the expanded budget campaign now in progress will be made Sunday morning by Francis Richter, Hondo attorney. He will speak on "Our Plans."

A. G. Hollaway, director of the campaign, says that "We are making an effort during August to reach every member and friend of our church with information as to the scope of this campaign, of what our church is proposing to do to meet the challenge which is before her today. Mr. Richter will have an important message for us Sunday morning."

Rev. Arthur Cox, pastor, will be in charge of the service, and will administer the sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

Alfred E. Rabe, alias Dutch Rabe, of Flatonia is being held in Medina County jail to await trial on charges of forgery.

Rabe was arrested in San Antonio where he is wanted on a similar count. He was indicted by a Medina County grand jury on Jan. 26, 1950.

This Is Your Paper

Its 'Space' Is Its Life

By William R. Nelson

Every column inch of every day of every issue of this newspaper costs so many cents to produce, regardless of whether it is occupied by editorial matter or advertising. Knowing what that cost is, it may seem only natural that publishers would be inclined to increase earnings by devoting all advertising all of the space they could sell.

Strange as it may appear, such is not the case. All recognized newspapers set quotas or percentages for productive and non-productive material, and seldom deviate them. It is not uncommon for a newspaper to omit advertising in order to get in more news.

Paper Has Obligations

It may sound altruistic to sacrifice revenue and disappoint an advertiser to allow more space for non-productive news matter. It is not. Although the paper owns all of its space and can use it as it sees fit, it has obligations it will not avoid, for several very sound reasons.

When this newspaper accepts subscriptions it is entering into a contract with readers. An unwritten clause of that contract assures that the issues readers will receive will contain an established amount of news, editorials, features and advertising.

There is another side, too, that the publisher keeps in mind. It is that of costs. To maintain quality staffs, in both news and advertising departments, is expensive. It is increasingly so if the price which fills each issue fluctuates widely.

Keyed to Quotas

Both "sides," as they are called in most newspaper offices, can occasionally turn out additional pages, by working longer hours. But they cannot do so at frequent intervals. It is to the self-interest of the paper, therefore, to maintain a staff keyed to fairly rigid quotas of news and advertising. Any other merely increases the cost-per-column inch. Those who submit news, particularly publicity chairmen, should understand and remember this cost-per-inch fact.

And when your club or group can profitably do so, isn't it not only good business but also neighborly to reciprocate the newspaper's numerous gifts of space by buying advertising in it?

CAUTION: You'd better look close, now, before telling the wife she has wrinkles in her hose. She may not have any on!

Mr. Link Robinson, 519 Lindsey, is the most content and satisfied man in Newport, Ky. In fact, he says there isn't a thing in the world that can irritate or upset him now that he is on the HADACOL band wagon. If there ever was a man who thought HADACOL is the most wonderful thing in the world, it is Link Robinson, since he learned that his system lacked Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron, and Niacin.

Here is what Mr. Robinson has to say about HADACOL, which is now supplying liberal quantities of these essential elements: "I have been a steel worker for over twenty years. When you are a steel worker, you have to do plenty of good, hard work, and you need lots of good, substantial food. But when a stomach is in as bad a shape as mine was . . . I couldn't eat, I had gas pains, stomach bloating and nervousness; well, I just couldn't eat the proper foods I needed. My boss told me about HADACOL and I started taking it immediately. After the second bottle I could tell a definite improvement. Now I can eat the foods I need to eat to really be on the job. In fact, I can eat anything I want to. I am not nervous anymore, either. Best of all, I haven't got those terrific gas pains and no more stomach bloating. HADACOL is the best ever. I recommend HADACOL to everyone."

HADACOL Is Different

Countless thousands are benefiting from HADACOL . . . even hundreds of doctors are recommending HADACOL to their patients whose systems lack Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron, and Niacin. HADACOL is so wonderful because HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every organ, and every part of your body—to the heart, liver, kidneys and lungs, even to the eyes, hair and nails.

Give remarkable HADACOL a chance and if you don't feel better with the first few bottles you take—you get your money back. Only $1.25 for Trial Size; Large Family or Hospital Size, $3.50.

ANYBODY GOT AN ASPIRIN?

DEVINE — S. R. Malone, manager of the Devine girls all-star softball team, is in a dither, and he has reason to be, too.

Manager Malone boasted three pitchers for the first time in history. But that was before things started happening.

Vada Hibdon had an emergency appendectomy, and is out of the lineup; and Ruthell Littleton came down with the mumps Monday morning, the day Devine's tournament started.

D'HANIS WINS WITH NO HITS

By Henry Dominguez

Pile Rodriguez pitched 10 innings of no-hit ball Sunday, but the Hondo Bears dropped a 1-0 decision to the D'Hanis Cardinals when an error let the winning run in.

The game marked the first time the Bears had been shut out in 17 outings this season. The Hondo team got seven hits off Sanchez, but were unable to score.

A return game with Big Joe's will be played Sunday in San Antonio.

Hondo Hasbeens Play Devine-Castroville Thursday In Benefit

The ladies will have a night of their own Thursday evening, Aug. 3, when the Hondo Camp Fire Leaders will meet the leaders from Devine and Castroville in a softball game at the airfield diamond.

Rival managers, Mary Ruth Cameron of Hondo, and Mrs. Jo Bailey (L. C.) Martin for the visitors, have named 8 o'clock as game time.

Proceeds from the game will be used to buy a camp site in Medina County for camp fire girls. No admission will be charged, but a collection will be taken.

Miss Cameron, player-manager, listed her roster for the game as follows: Mrs. Katherine Vincent, Mrs. E. W. Brucks, Mrs. Beverly Witkind, Mrs. Millie Eckhart, Mrs. Arnold Saathoff, Mrs. Walter Haass, Mrs. Sam Meyer, Mrs. Charles Tondre, and Mrs. Rudy Rath.

The Hondo aggregation has been dubbed the Hondo Hasbeens and has been practicing during the week in preparation for the contest.

Field Is Readied For Opening Game

Work was started this week to repair bleachers at Barry Field in preparation for the coming football season.

The bleachers are now being rebuilt and beams which have rotted are being replaced and reinforced. They will be painted before the season begins.

The field is also being put into shape, and a good cover of grass is evident. Lights are being adjusted and replaced, and the reflectors cleaned.

SOME THOUGHTS ON THINGS POLITICAL

The results of the recent Democratic primary election in Texas afforded abundant evidence of a lamentable lack of appreciation of our form of government and sense of duty to maintain it on the part of too many in the state as a whole and in Medina County in particular.

In a Representative - Democracy, such as ours was designed by its founding fathers to be, and such as it is still supposed to be, every man is a sovereign in his own right.

He owes allegiance to no prince or potentate; his allegiance is to a code of laws agreed to by majority acquiescence.

It is his right as one of the body politic, and subject only to a reasonable conformance to the will of the majority, to have a voice in the formulation and maintenance in all fairness of this code of laws by which he and his compeers are governed.

Likewise it is his right to choose as the servants of the people those who are to administer those laws.

Our government, being as it is, is an abstract idea of how a people can best live together under a set of rules and regulations — laws — mutually agreed to and administered by public servants similarly selected — and presumably selected for their ability and dependability to serve.

What we commonly refer to as "the government" is not the government per se; it is the administration.

We are the choosers of the administrators and the makers of the laws we elect to have them administer.

As we choose — good or ill — so is the government under which we live.

Our means of expressing ourselves in our choice of the kind of government under which we live and the manner in which it should be administered is in the use of our ballot.

With our vote we exercise our power of sovereignty in this self-governing Republic of ours; we make our government; we choose our governors — servants; — we are sovereigns in our own right; no self-appointed dictator or prince by accident of birth may claim dominion over us as his subjects!

All this is made and preserved by the ballots of a free people intelligently cast at the elections provided for ascertaining the people's will.

With so much at stake how can we be unmindful of the great responsibility entailed upon us by the great inalienable right that is ours?

Yet, with all the freedom the right of franchise implies, and the sense of duty with which it should imbue every one, only a comparatively small fraction of those qualified to vote cast their ballots in the recent state primary.

In Medina County the result was even worse still; out of a possible five thousand who could and should have voted only about 1400 votes are accounted for in the returns.

By what justification did you fail or refrain from voting, conceding that it is every qualified voter's privilege and duty to vote and vote when and as how he may hope for it to accomplish the most good?

Was it because it was held as a Democratic primary?

Waving aside the not facetious query of who is a Democrat and what is democracy under the present trend, let's approach the matter seriously and examine it on its ethical merits.

Texas is a one party state and with almost unheard of exceptions the nominee of that primary is de facto elected when he receives the party nomination.

Whatever your wishes or ideas may be you are powerless, therefore, to effectively exercise any personal choice in selecting your officials out side of that primary.

What consideration should weigh so heavily upon your conscience as to out-weigh your duty to try to make your vote effective in the only place where it will count?

Is good morals — to say nothing of political expediency — best served by disfranchising yourself by voluntarily refraining from voting when and where it will count or defying the pledge to vote for the nominee?

That pledge appendage at the top of the primary ballot is mere superfluous verbiage.

It is not an oath and if it were, could not possibly be enforced by legal process under the present secret ballot system.

And if it ever held any legal validity it was long ago destroyed by the Supreme Court's decision in the Tom Love case, when Tom voted for Hoover and kept on running for office as a Democrat.

Like the old time farmer's "stake and rider" to his "old rail fence," it seems to have been placed there to bluff the timid away — never intended to add "bull strength" or "horse-height" to the fence!

When confronted by a choice between two doubts choice of the lesser is the wiser course.

What can be worse than to disfranchise yourself at the behest of designing politicians who seek to deter you from your greater duty by trying to hedge its performance about with unfair restrictions?

Some laws are best honored by their non-observance, and the ballot pledge is one of them.

There are minority rights that are inviolate — inviolate because they are right!

If too squeamish to accept this position, vote anyhow; and ease your conscience by the reflection that when the vote is counted the choice is made and there is nothing more to do about it.

Korea: Campaigns And Strategy

It now appears that more than a whole division of North Korean troops have pushed around the American left flank and all the way to the south coast.

The impact of these developments is likely to strike heavily upon a people who, just five years ago, emerged victoriously from a great war with the greatest armed strength in history. This is a time when it is particularly important to see the current battles in the perspective of the whole campaign, and the Korean campaign in the perspective of the grand strategy of containing Communist imperialism. It is a time, also, when neither rationalization of failures nor "Monday morning quarterbacking" is in order.

The military, with top-planning approval, had written off Korea as both strategically nonvital and inexpedient to defend. When, however, Korea proved psychologically unexpendable, the military, on a few hours' notice, had to undertake a task they had ceased to prepare for.

The battles now raging, therefore, are not, strictly speaking, engagements to defend South Korea. They are desperate efforts to delay the enemy so that a beachhead can be fortified behind which to build up strength sufficient to drive out the invaders.

That the Pentagon had hoped the South Koreans and the slim American forces would do better goes without saying. But when the Pentagon tells the chief of this newspaper's Washington bureau the most it has expected is to hold an 80-mile arc around Pusan, we are inclined to believe it — not because the "Top Brass" says so, but because it is consistent with all the surrounding facts, historical and military. The real battle for Korea may not come for months.

To move to the still broader perspective: One danger of the moment is that Americans and their allies may become so emotionally involved in the Korean fight that victory there becomes an end in itself.

Korea is of global significance because here the Kremlin has received tangible warning that armed aggression will be resisted. There is good hope also, that successful resistance in Korea will discourage armed aggression elsewhere. But it may not. Too great a military commitment in Korea might only invite a still harder blow thousands of miles away. So the United States and its UN allies, even if they hold a strong bridgehead, may not dare throw in the forces necessary for an early victory.

For if the Kremlin should strike at the Mediterranean or at West Germany for instance, Korea would become secondary at once. It might even be advisable, then, to withdraw the troops, and abandon the campaign for a time. But that would not mean abandoning Korea — any more than Great Britain really abandoned Greece or the United States the Philippines. It would mean simply a recognition that the decisive battles for Korea would be wrapped up with the decisive battles for the whole world. And they would likely be fought on other ground, perhaps clear across the Eurasian continent.

Purchase Only What You Need

Some time ago an association of retailers, which has a membership of 7,500 stores, appointed a Committee on Emergency Government Controls under the chairmanship of a Harvard professor of retailing. A few days after hostilities began in Korea, the Committee met. It urged that its members, and all other stores, "carry on through the months ahead with their usual concern for the interests of consumers and the added determination to serve in all possible ways the interests of the nation as it faces a possible developing emergency." It emphasized that retailers will give full support to the government in policies resulting from the crisis in the Far East. It announced that retail experts would be delegated to consult with government officials on problems of policy that affect retailing.

In peace or war, retailing is primarily concerned with the welfare of the consumer — if only for the reason that in the long run consumer welfare will determine the retailer's welfare. During and directly after the last war retailing did a splendid job in fighting the black market, in pointing out the dangers in consumer hoarding, and in making a limited supply of goods go around as equitably as possible. The experience thus gained places it in a better position than ever before to serve in any kind of an emergency.

Disquieting reports of scare buying and hoarding have appeared again. It is to the great credit of retailing that the vast majority of store operators are urging that consumers buy normally, and are pointing out that the supply of goods of almost all kinds is fully adequate. The hoarder is a menace at a time like this. The intelligent and patriotic consumer will co-operate with retailing in preventing shortages and maladjustments in the supply machine by purchasing only what he needs.

Conservation District News

The purpose of the Medina Valley District is co-ordinated effort with the farmer, rancher and landowner.

1. To protect and promote the health, safety and general welfare of the people in the district by conserving the soil which is a basic asset.

2. To stop soil erosion damage which causes the impoverishment of families attempting to farm eroded lands; to stop deterioration of soil and its fertility; silting of streams, reservoir, dams and ditches, loss of soil and water, destruction of food and cover for wildlife, a diminishing of the underground water supply and damage to roads, highways, railroads, farm buildings and other property.

3. To make available to the farmers, ranchers and landowners in the district the advice and assistance of all state and federal agencies qualified and authorized to render such assistance.

The future of our agriculture depends on the rancher, farmer, businessman and professional man working hand in hand to safeguard the soils of this area. Agriculture is the foundation upon which our economy is built and agriculture can be permanent and profitable only when founded on productive land.

Farmers in the district realize that legumes and phosphate in the crop rotation are improving the soil and leading to higher yields of all crops.

Guar is a high yielding summer growing annual legume, fairly drought resistant. A good soil building crop is being used for the first time by the following co-operators of the district: Earl Balzen of the Upper Quihi Conservation Group, Otto Reitzer of the Yancey Group, Ralph Bendele of the Devine Group, Henry Lindeburg of the Quihi Group, Arthur Nester of the Kincheloe Group, and W. E. Schaeffer of the Pearson Group.

This soil building crop will open the land with its tap root, add nitrogen and organic matter to the soil. The seed should be innoculated and phosphate applied to the land before planting. Planting time is from April to June in this area. Seed crops from Guar can be harvested as a money crop.

Roy Hartman, farming north of Yancey, has obtained good results by applying phosphate and seeding peas. The peas were turned under green and a broomcorn crop followed the peas. The field was terraced and broomcorn planted on the contour. Roy reported to Soil Conservation Service personnel assisting him that the broomcorn on the 12 acres treated produced five tons where 12 acres of broomcorn on the same type of soil but no peas on other conservation treatment used produced only a little over 2 tons.

A brush cutting demonstration will be held on the Robert Riff farm, Quihi, at 10:00 A. M. on August 9.

The Schuchart Brothers have a good stand of King Ranch Bluestem grass and Slender Grama grass in an old field on their ranch northeaast of Rio Medina.

The Schuchart Brothers have doing a good job of range improvement by deferring their pastures, rotated grazing and proper stocking of the rangeland.

Co-operators with the district are finding that the best native range grasses will come back and improvement of rangeland can be obtained faster and better through proper stocking, deferring pastures during growing season of native grasses and by rotated grazing.

Buzzard Trap Plans Available

A catch of 210 buzzards in a single day was made by one Freestone County stockman, according to a report submitted by county agent J. H. Pritchard to R. E. Callender, extension wildlife conservation specialist of Texas A. & M. College.

The stockman, Fred Hale, of Oakwood, reported to Pritchard early in June that he had lost 18 baby calves by buzzards killing them.

Hale constructed a trap and baited it, but he did not catch any buzzards immediately. After several days, he finally caught one in a steel-trap and placed it inside the regular buzzard trap. From about 4:00 P. M. one afternoon, when Hale placed the first buzzard in the trap, until late the next afternoon, 210 buzzards were caught in the trap.

Hale reports that he has caught about 525 buzzards in his trap, and says that they are fairly well thinned out around his place now. Several other ranchers in Freestone county are also building traps.

Callender states that all the details for constructing a buzzard trap are given in blueprint No. 169, Buzzard Trap, which is available through your local county agent's office.

FEAR BUYING

Reprint of Macy's Dept. Store Full Page Ad In The New York Times

How much money can you afford to waste through fear?

Already, under the impact of "scare buying," some prices have started to rise again — five years after V-J Day — in the most productive nation on earth, just when the forces of inflation seemed to have been halted.

As the "world's largest store," we're in a good position to know the truth about consumer goods, and the plain truth, so far as we can see, is that there is no important shortage of anything right now. Our own counters are bulging with merchandise; in many, many lines there's a surplus.

America's productive capacity today is at such a high level that it can cope with just about everything except a stampede of hoarding and panic buying. "Don't get us wrong," said Macy's. "We're neither military nor political experts, nor do we possess any crystal ball. But we believe, based on such knowledge as we have, that any talk of genuine shortage is nonsense, and dangerous nonsense.

In any state of affairs — peace, half-peace, or all-out war — hoarding is the worst thing you can do. Hoarders only hurt themselves, and their families and their neighbors. Hoarding is always stupid, because it disrupts our economy, and is doubly stupid today. So buy what you need or really want, but please don't be stampeded into buying what you don't want. For you'll pay for it twice. You'll pay for it because you'll be spending money with no immediate benefit to yourself, and you'll pay for it again because it will help raise the prices you ll have to pay for most everything, including things you really will need.

"If you're one of those people who simply has more cash than you can normally spend," Macy's concluded, "why not buy U. S. Savings Bonds?"

The Seco Philosopher

J. A. WILL 'HOLD THE LINE;' WON'T BUY UNNEEDED ARTICLES

Editor's note: The Seco Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm this week comes out against hoarding, in his own peculiar way.

Dear editar:

I went into town Saturday to catch up on the news, there's two kinds, the kind you read in the papers and the kind you hear on the streets and while we got the closest thing there is to freedom of the press in this country there ain't no newspaper that can hold a light to street news, mainly on account of editars like to live the same as other people, and while I was in town I picked up some good stories about all this scare buying.

One woman I understand bought 24 sheets at one time, which is 22 more than I've ever had and frequently is 23 more. Another woman bought 18 shirts for her husband, sayin he didn't have a one to his name, guess he was wearin a pull-over sweater in mid-summer. Coffee and sugar also has been pretty hard hit, along with tires and pillow slips, although personally I can't imagine a war so awful its prospect would drive me to hoardin pillow slips.

J. A.

In fact, I wish to say that I personally am holdin the line for President Truman and ain't bought a single item I don't need. In fact, I'm even ahead of the President and there's lots of things I need I ain't buyin. If I do any plowin after the crops are in this fall I'll need some more plow points and several other items, but you ain't gonna catch me endangerin the war effort and bringin on scarcities, and I'll make the sacrifice and do without them parts before I'll stampede this country into rationin. I'll put my country ahead of plowin any day.

When the President says hold the line, I'll hold it, even if I have to sit in the shade to do it. Ain't nothin half-way about me.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Washington MERRY-GO-ROUND

Historic Conversation

CONSIDERING the fact that they are members of opposite political parties and once rival candidates for the presidency, General MacArthur and President Truman have coordinated on the Korean crisis exceptionally well. In fact, they get along better than some of MacArthur's fellow generals in the Pentagon building, whom "Doug" sometimes treats with highhanded disdain.

Two historic telecommunication conversations were held between MacArthur and the White House in the first stages of the Korean war. The first was the night before Truman issued his world-shaking announcement that American forces would intervene. The second was four days later when MacArthur gave an extremely gloomy picture of the Korean military rout and asked for permission to land ground troops. When MacArthur made this proposal, Pentagon officials teletyped back the suggestion that he make a formal request. MacArthur replied crisply: "Consider it made." Permission was immediately granted.

MacArthur talked on the telecom in somewhat the same stilted language he uses in his now famous communiques. He did not speak disparagingly of the South Koreans but used such phrases as "the Koreans in their efforts to resist communism" must be helped.

Secretary of the Army Frank Pace stayed in the communications room in the Pentagon building during the second conversation with MacArthur and phoned the White House direct for decisions that were over his head.

In his first conversation with the White House, MacArthur was full of optimism, and informed Truman that he could "guarantee" success whether Russia intervened in Korea or not.

MacArthur Pessimistic

In his second conversation held just after MacArthur had flown to Korea, he was quite pessimistic; in fact, much more so than the official communiques issued in Tokyo. MacArthur had already proceeded to bomb North Korea before asking Washington for permission which caused some embarrassment, since, when the North Koreans claimed their air base was bombed, Washington had emphatically denied it.

It also caused worry in the state department because of the understandable desire to operate in close coordination with the United Nations.

However, in the second telecom conversation, MacArthur was given complete authority, including the use of ground forces and the right to bomb North Korea, in order to win the war as quickly as possible.

Note—MacArthur also demanded that more divisions be rushed to Japan from the United States plus heavy equipment.

Pentagon Crisis

As grim-faced military leaders waited gravely for the latest news from embattled Korea, a dismayed screech echoed down the corridors of the Pentagon building.

A moment later, a girl rushed out of an office, shouting mournfully:

"Rosen just hit a homer with the bases full!"

This was the play by which Cleveland defeated Washington that day.

Frank Graham's Friends

The post office department is investigating the anti-Negro organizations that mailed inflammatory racial propaganda from New York designed to defeat liberal senator Frank Graham of North Carolina.

Graham himself, however, doesn't want any post-election investigation—not even by Senator Gillette's senate campaign committee, which is interested in the reported $1,000,000 spent by yankee Republicans and Dixiecrats.

What really hurts Graham deep way down is the fact that the millworkers and other poorer people whose cause he has always championed, turned their back on him on election day.

Apparently they listened to the most vicious racial propaganda since the Civil War days—tons of literature circulated by Alabama klansmen, anti-Graham propaganda mailed out under the franking privileges of Congressman Gwinn of New York, the friend of General Eisenhower; and the poisoned-pen diatribes of John T. Flynn.

TRUMAN'S CABINET LUNCH—President Truman held an important lunch with his cabinet last week at which he expressed very frank fears about the current situation—especially what Korea might do to the American economy. He was particularly worried about inflation and expressed the hope that no panic-buying or hoarding of scarce materials should take place among industry or consumers. Truman has ordered the national security resources board to go all-out in planning if it looks like Korea would develop into a world war.

Pack an Easily Carried Lunch Box
(San Enrique Bulletin)

Have a Picnic!

PACK YOURSELF a basket of fun and good eating with a well planned, easily carried picnic lunch if you plan to trek out-of-doors to have your meal.

Marty will tell you that picnic lunches don't usually because they're better sounding than they are eating. Others tell you they always forget the salt, pepper, forks or napkins, while still others maintain that something always spills or is too bulky to carry easily.

If you take as much care planning the picnic lunch as you do a meal at home, it can be not only good but well balanced so that it doesn't leave you uncomfortable. With modern aids, you can pack many things in lightweight containers that are easy to carry and spill proof, too.

It's not necessary to forget anything if you have a basket or hamper that's fitted with table accessories such as complete table settings. Keep salt, pepper and sugar in the basket, and you won't forget them. Make a list of the menu and check off each item as you pack, and this will eliminate forgetting other essentials.

• • •

SANDWICHES ARE favorites of every picnic lunch. Butter the bread thoroughly so that the filling does not soak through. Wrap each sandwich carefully in waxed paper so it doesn't dry, and you'll enjoy them. Here are some excellent fillings:

Banana-Pineapple Special
(Makes 2 sandwiches)

- 1 banana
- 1-2 tablespoons real mayonnaise
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 4-4 slices date-nut bread
- 4-4 pineapple chunks

Mash banana and mix with mayonnaise until of good spreading consistency. Add lemon juice. Spread on bread and top with pineapple. Cover with bread.

Bacon-Egg Sandwich
(Makes 4)

- 12 strips bacon, cut
- 4 eggs, beaten
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper
- ¼ cup finely chopped celery
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 4 large buns

Fry bacon until crisp. Pour off fat. Add eggs, vegetables and salt. Scramble mixture while it cooks. Serve on toasted, buttered buns

Ham-Potato Sandwich
(Makes 6)

- 6 hamburger buns
- ⅓ cup soft butter
- 12 lettuce leaves
- 12 slices boiled ham or bologna
- 1⅓ cups potato salad
- 6 slices tomato, if desired

Cut buns in half and spread with butter. Place a lettuce leaf and a slice of ham on each bun half. On the bottom half of each sandwich, place ⅓ cup potato salad and one tomato slice. Cover with top half of bun.

LYNN SAYS:
These Picnic Tips Make Eating Fun

Next supper picnic you have, bring hot soup for a first course. It will carry safely in your thermos. You will find that hot cream soup is very welcome, especially if the other dishes are cold salads and sandwiches.

Layer cakes are not easy to carry to picnics. Bake the cake in an oblong pan, frost, and carry in the same pan.

Hearty Chicken Sandwich
(Makes 6)

- 1 cup chopped, cooked chicken
- ½ cup chopped celery
- 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- ¼ cup salad dressing
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- 6 Vienna rolls
- ¼ cup soft butter
- 6 lettuce leaves

Combine chicken, celery, green pepper, salad dressing and salt. Cut rolls in half lengthwise and spread with butter. Spread chicken salad on lower half of rolls. Top with lettuce leaf, then cover with roll top.

These ham and egg roll-ups are sandwich like, but require no bread. They make excellent nibbling on a picnic.

Ham and Egg Roll-Ups
(Makes 1)

- 2 slices Swiss or American cheese
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- 2 tablespoons real mayonnaise
- 1 teaspoon mustard-with-horseradish
- Dash of worcestershire sauce
- 2 ham slices
- Salt and pepper to taste

Cut cheese in half. Chop hard-cooked eggs and add mayonnaise, mustard, worcestershire sauce and salt and pepper. Place strips of cheese on bread board and top with ham slice. Spread egg mixture in center of ham. Roll up tightly. Wrap in waxed paper.

THEY WHO LIKE hot food on the picnic spot will be interested to know that small size cans, eight-ounce size, are available now for the first time, of food favorites.

To make a balanced meal, plan to have a tossed salad which can be carried in a jar or a lightweight, unbreakable bowl that comes fitted with a cover. As dessert you might pack some fresh fruit and simple cakes, baked in paper cups, with a baked on frosting that won't get messy in transport.

• • •

HERE IS A SALAD ideal for the picnic:

Tossed Garden Salad
(Serves 4)

- 2 cucumbers, sliced
- 10 radishes, sliced
- ⅓ cup sliced green onions
- 1 bunch watercress or other greens, separated
- ⅓ cup chopped celery
- ⅓ cup shredded raw carrots
- ⅓ cup shredded cabbage
- ½ teaspoon salt
- French dressing

Toss vegetables together in a bowl with the salt and French dressing. If desired, the bowl may be rubbed with a split clove of garlic.

Cooling drinks are much in demand as picnic fare. Mix together some apricot nectar and pineapple juice with gingerale and ice cubes and place in the thermos. The beverage will be deliciously cold and refreshing, as well as ready to serve.

Chill whole melons thoroughly before taking to the picnic, and wrap in several layers of newspaper with ice. Place in dishpan or bucket for easy transport to the picnic grounds.

Ben Ramsey Thanks Voters

Ben Ramsey of San Augustine, candidate for lieutenant governor and former secretary of state, thanked the voters of Texas this week for the votes and support which put him in the second primary run-off.

Ramsey's statement to the voters said:

"My showing in the first primary for lieutenant governor fills my heart with humble gratitude. It convinces me that I will be nominated in the run-off.

"Among my opponents were some of the ablest and most experienced of Texas' public servants — men whose legislative records have made them widely and favorably known. It seems clear that they divided with me the support of that great majority of citizens who believe that experience counts in public service, as it does everywhere else.

"I served in the senate while three of these men were members of that body and three others were members of the House. Many of my friends are also their friends and many others who know me only from my legislative record faced a choice between several men whom they deemed competent and deserving.

"The situation in the run-off will be very different. I will no longer be confronting the popularity and prestige of men who have served ably in one or both houses of our law-making bodies and many friends who share my own admiration for those men will feel free to cast their ballots for me. I believe that great majority of Texans will agree with me that in these crucial times the post of lieutenant governor should be filled by a trained and experienced man."

party loyalty nor civic duty, failed to vote through sheer indifference?

If of that number ask the question of yourself!

Why neglect so great responsibility?

We have believed for a long time that the public welfare from the state down would be best served by tabooing nominations altogether and making all elections "free-for-alls."

Over a period of more than fifty years we have seen it successfully exemplified in Medina County elections, and believe there are few who would want to see a change.

However, since it is the practice to hold primaries and the law attempts to make them fraud-proof, more interest should be take in party machinery and party procedure.

To do this, there must first be individual interest and activity; there must be leadership at the "grass roots," so to speak, to properly set in motion the means of political action.

The first concern of these active ones is to see that their precinct has a capable and dependable Precinct Chairman.

By virtue of that position, he becomes a member of the County Executive Committee with his duties there well defined.

Locally, he should see that the primary in his precinct is properly provided for and held, and that delegates to the county convention are selected by a precinct convention at the proper time and in the manner specified.

The precinct chairmen should attend a meeting with their county chairman at the time set for that purpose and, as the County Executive Committee, canvass the returns of the primary, report the result to the county convention of the delegates selected by the precinct conventions there assembled, and declare the result.

That is the formula provided.

How did it function in Medina County?

Five precincts held no election — passed up every phase of the procedure.

Not one of the precincts — so for as we are informed — held the prescribed precinct convention; consequently there were no accredited delegates to the county convention.

Only eight precincts out of the county's twenty selected a precinct chairman and only one out of the eight was regularly elected; the others were voted for haphazardly by a few write-ins, and not one of them showed up for their duty as a member of the County Executive committee.

No committee to canvass the vote, there were no returns to be certified to the convention delegates who weren't there to be reported to had there been any thing for anybody to report!

Such was the situation that presented itself to the County Chairman and five others present on their own initiative!

PRESS TO BE HONORED OCT. 7 WHEN 1950 STATE FAIR OPENS

Opening day of the 1950 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 7, has been adopted by the Texas Press Association in convention at Fort Worth as official Press Day.

The State Fair traditionally honors newspapers and radio men and women on the first day of the giant exposition. More than 2,000 members of the Fourth Estate are expected to attend this year.

An expanded program of activities has been planned by the State Fair for Press and Radio Day this year, Charles Yeager, public relations director of the Fair, told the TPA convention.

The press and radio visitors will be guests of the State Fair at "South Pacific" Pulitzer Prize musical show in the Auditorium, and Ice Cycles of 1951, spectacular carnival of skating thrills.

They also will be invited to see Austin College and East Texas State College clash in a night football game in the Cotton Bowl.

They will view all shows on the Midway and many other attractions to be featured at the 1950 State Fair, Yeager said.

The State Fair also will be host at a mammoth fried chicken picnic lunch for the press and radio people.

"Support by the press and radio of Texas continues to be the backbone of the State Fair's tremendous success," Yeager pointed out. "With your support, the Fair is able to continue making many worthwhile contributions to the development of ranching, farming, business and industry in the Southwest.

"The officers and directors of the State Fair of Texas again wish to express their appreciation to members of the Texas Press Association for their co-operation."

The 1950 State Fair will be a gigantic Mid-Century Exposition which will salute the first 50 years of the 20th century and offer a preview of the second half-century, Yeager declared.

All shows and exhibits will tie in with the Mid-Century theme, and plans indicate the 1950 Fair will be the greatest spectacle ever presented in the Southwest, he said.

Among attractions will be the All-American Jersey Show, world's biggest cattle breed show, and a Super Science Show, featuring atomic energy exhibits direct from Oak Ridge, Tenn., birthplace of the atom bomb.

Talking to Bernard Baruch in his Madison Avenue office, I found the white-haired, distinguished elder statesman to be as uncertain about the future of the war developments as any of the rest of us. Noting that he wore a hearing aid, I touched upon this subject and he was far from ashamed of it. In fact he said he always wore his "conspicuously." I asked him if he thought a young person seeking fame and fortune should come to New York or stay at home. He replied that it didn't make any difference where a person was, as long as he did his best. "If he is a good man, it will show up anywhere he is," said Mr. Baruch. "Whether he comes to New York or goes somewhere else or stays at home is not important."

Like death and taxes, the sidewalk superintendents apparently will always be with us. I am sure they gather in your home town whenever a street is torn up just as they are gathering now in Times Square here to watch the repaving of Broadway. Each day an estimated 60,000 vehicles and several hundred thousand persons create at this spot one of the world's worst traffic jams. Now to add to this confusion, hundreds of gawkers stop and "oversee" the operations of the steam shovel which is tearing up the street. Cops move them on, but others come right along and do the some thing.

Those who pity the bald-headed men should stop to consider some of the citizens of this town who happen to have great open spaces atop their cranial appendages. Of course there are lots of them here who are in this coverless condition, but I have in mind particularly General Eisenhower, Senator Herbert Lehman and Jim Farley. These are three of the most prominent and most popular figures here — or anywhere else. And yet each of them is — to make a bald statement — destitute in this respect.

Hanging to a subway strap, I noticed seated almost directly under me two little boys, two girls and a lady. There was something different about this group. For one thing, they all seemed happy and this is not too common a state of many New Yorkers. The woman was mothering them all, yet she obviously was not their mother. The small ones had eager, longing faces freshly washed and their clothing, though cheap, was clean and neat. Each clasped a little paper parcel with more clothes and a few toys inside. Then I discovered: they were tenement children bound for the Herald-Tribune Fresh Air camps outside of New York City, and it was a joyful sight to behold, these poor underprivileged tots who were headed for the cool, open country away from their dirty, hot and crowded flats in the slums.

At the recent National Editorial Association meeting in Providence, Rhode Island, a minister, the Reverend Arthur H. Bradford, quoted his father who was pastor for 40 years of a Congregational Church in Montclair, New Jersey as follows: "I believe that the place in which I live, while I live in it, should be regarded by me as the greatest place in the world; and that, as it gives to me the best which it has, it deserves from me the best that I can give to it."

My baseball friends are talking about young Art Houtteman, star pitcher of the Detroit Tigers who are giving the Yankees some local fits nowadays. A year ago he had a fractured skull from an automobile accident. Today he holds promise of being the year's pitching sensation. And speaking of baseball, some wise guy has figured out that even if Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox makes $125,000 a year, he can't buy as much with it as could Babe Ruth who got a measly $80,000 in 1931. Ruth's take-home pay was $68,535 while that of Williams, considering taxes etc. is only $62,028 — which is not bad at that, eh chum?

During the last war, I recall meeting and talking with Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, now our commanding general in Korea. He was a stocky, energetic, bemedalled Texan who had done a fine job in that war. Somehow I feel he will do it in this one too.

Reports From Washington

WASHINGTON — As always in times of crisis, the Congress gets into high gear and starts passing bills that would limp along for months were times normal.

And so it was in the House. So, no doubt, it will continue. With only one dissenting voice—Rep. Vito Marcantonio of New York — the House passed a Senate approved bill authorizing over a billion two hundred million dollars worth of military assistance to nations resisting Communism.

The speed was top level action. Besides, it was the first time since the war started that a major foreign aid bill didn't have to go into conference to iron out differences between the two Houses. The speed was a reflection of how the Congress feels about bolstering defenses against Communism.

The bill has wide distribution. There's a billion dollars worth of arms aid to Atlantic Pact nations. There's a hundred thirty one and a half million dollars for Greece, Turkey and Iran; seventy five million for the general area of China with sixteen million going to the Philippines and South Korean republics. This is authorization only. The money itself must be appropriated later.

AIR BASES

It's nothing short of right that Texas should be interested in the reactivation of air bases. Texas has most of them.

Interest has risen sharply in the last few weeks about the air forces plans for putting its fields back in commission. There have been multiple inquiries from chambers of commerce and civic groups.

As it stands now, the air force is discussing re-activation. And that's all. Nothing definite has been done. No final plans have been laid.

DAY TO DAY

There's one phrase getting a working over these days in Washington. It's "as of now."

And it can have its effect on correspondence back home. My mail has increased greatly in the last week. A large percentage of the inquiries are military. Each and every one is checked. I call the department of the Army, of the Navy, of the Air Forces. I am in touch with the Coast Guard, the Marines, the Merchant Marines, Selective Service and procurement offices. In every instance, I give what is the last minute information — but it's at the minute!

By the time it gets to Texas, frequently, it can be old stuff. Decisions are changing rapidly. What might hold today, might be out-dated tomorrow. When there is a question, get in touch with me again to determine the status "as of now."

KOREAN BENEFITS

Conditions surrounding the Korean war have prompted many inquiries concerning protection our servicemen will receive as veterans of that campaign. Here is the situation as outlined by the House Veterans Affairs committee:

"The National Service Life Insurance Act, originally enacted in 1940, is in full force. Any member of the armed forces is eligible to take out and carry an insurance policy up to $10,000 naming his own beneficiaries.

Any serviceman injured or contracting a disease in line of duty will be entitled to full disability compensation pay at the wartime rates based on duty performed under extra-hazardous conditions or conditions simulating war. Certainly, the present activity in Korea fully complies with this definition which already exists in law. It follows, of course, that dependents of those who lose their lives in action will be entitled to death compensation at the wartime rates. The law today provides that wartime compensation rates shall be payable (1) as a direct result of armed conflict, (2) while engaged in extra-hazardous service, including such service under condtions simulating war, or (3) while the United States is engaged in war. The peacetime rates applicable under peacetime conditions are 80 per cent of the wartime rates.

The Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act is also in full force and effect and gives protection to any man called into service by suspending the enforcement of civil liabilities such as debts, mortgages, or other liabilities which he may have and is unable to pay as a result of his military service. Guaranty of premiums on commercial insurance policies may also be provided for under this law under certain conditions.

Any veteran of the fighting in Korea who suffers a service-connected injury is, of course, entitled to hospitalization under the present laws governing hospitalization by the Veterans' Administration. In addition, he would be entitled to out-patient treatment for his service-connected injury."

Aggies Seek Money For Pews

Twenty-five Texas Aggies on summer vacation take the field this month throughout the state in a campaign to insure themselves a seat in church at Aggieland this fall.

Answering a call from Rev. Bob Sneed, director of studeint religious activities, A. and M. Wesley Foundation, these Aggies are seeking $10,000 for pews in the $150,000 Methodist chapel being completed this year at College Station.

Methodist students at A. and M., will furnish 50 pews for the new sanctuary, with each pew costing $200. The 25 Aggie solicitors have been furnished cards identifying them as "authorized representatives of the Texas Methodist Student Movement and the A. and M. Wesley Foundation."

Urges Rev. Sneed: "Have you ever thought what a church without pews would be like?"

First of the Fine Cars in Value

Even Wiser than He Seems

PLAINLY, here travels a man wise in the ways of fine motorcars.

You know that, by the four Ventiports and the rich sweep of chrome which mark his car as a ROADMASTER.

You know it, should you trail him on the highway, by the smooth lift of the big Fireball power plant at his toe's command, by the obvious levelness of the ride he enjoys, the swift ease with which Dynaflow Drive solves his traffic problems.

What is not so plain from what you see is that here also is a man very wise in what today's dollar should buy!

For this man has all that a fine-car owner can ask for—brilliant performance, a ride without equal for gentle softness, finger-easy handling, abundant room all around him, styling that is easily the most distinguished on the highway.

Yet he paid considerably less than comparable merit costs elsewhere.

He found fewer extra charges in his delivered price, with such things as Dynaflow Drive, foam rubber cushions, windshield washers, electric clock, even non-glare rear-view mirror included in the price.

If you know fine cars, it won't take fifteen minutes behind a ROADMASTER wheel to see that here is one of the finest.

If you have inquired about prices, a single glance at the delivered figures establishes this as the big buy of the field.

Why not make both checks — especially since your Buick dealer will be glad to arrange a trial run in a ROADMASTER any time you care to call on him?

Only BUICK has Dynaflow— DRIVE* and with it goes:

HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) • NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD forefront, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.*
